

As a benefit to our members, the Southern Rhode Island Chamber of Commerce has agreed to work with Allstate Benefits and the Kim Kelley Agency in an effort to provide voluntary benefits to our member employees. Allstate Benefits has allowed The Chamber to form an Association of its Members so that they may request consideration for Association Underwriting guidelines that are typically only available to larger groups.

As part of this program, Kim Kelley Agency- Allstate Benefits will review your current Benefits Plan and discuss ways in which you can attract and retain employees by offering benefits ~ at no cost to you! And, we can explore programs such as Health Reimbursement Accounts and Benefits Banks, which give businesses further ways to control costs.

Life is dynamic and unpredictable from day to day. Sometimes circumstances change, and you may need coverage that can adapt. Now, The Southern Rhode Island Chamber of Commerce offers access to voluntary benefits through Allstate Benefits that allow employees and their spouses to apply for additional coverage by answering a few medical questions – no medical exams are required.
